John Mellencamp, Deep Blue Heart

Daylight is leaving
And the night is closing in
In just a few hours
The sleeplessness begins again
My head feels thick
And I'm unable to think
I guess I'll wait 'til tomorrow
And see what it brings
I have a little hope left
And I guess that's someplace to start
But my memory's full
Of a deep blue heart.

My fun-loving sense of humor Is nowhere to be found I stare into my own eyes With tears flowing down I'd sing out a song But I've forgotten the tune And the words now escape me But I think it's about you My vision now is way out in the dark With just a little sight left Of a deep blue heart

I see us both flying
In the clear blue sky
Floating out on the ocean
With the sun in our eyes
Caught in a moment
Just me and you
In complete honesty
Where everything is true
That's what I wanted to believe
Right from the start
Just a little place for myself
In a deep blue heart

Carve out a place for myself In your deep blue heart
