

John Parr, Running the endless mile

You may be wrong, you may be right, we don't need this out tonight
When all is said, I still love you