

Jon McLaughlin, For You From Me

Unexpected, understatement of the year
That's for sure
Who'd of thought that I'd be standing
At your door
It's just the way you say my name that throws me
All the windows of my past are closing
Everything that you see here

Is for you from me
I give it away so easily
Never stop to look at what's behind
For you from me

Everything we want will be holding us
Together tonight, tonight
Unexpected, I'm not use to catching dreams and catching them
All of a sudden I'm the winner in the end
I'm used to every door I open closing
Always making sure I'm not supposing
I can't believe I'm really here

For you from me
I give it away so easily
Never stop to look at what's behind
For you from me

Everything we want will be holding us
Together, tonight
We will never fall
We'll defy the laws of this world
With new ones of our own
That's the way I feel
Stupid but for real all that I am

Is for you from me
I give it away so easily
Never stop to look at what's behind
For you from me
Everything we want will be holding us
Together tonight, tonight [2x]
