

Josh Rouse, Parts And Accessories

As you waltzed in
The room became a glow
Maybe I would see you now
And you're welcome I suppose
To a life less known
Where normal things surround

So don't let on
Don't let go
We should know
It's just parts of who you are
Don't let on
Don't let go
It's just parts of who you are
Just parts of who you are

Where do I fit in
This game that's begun
Is it too late to turn back now
But there's some hope I suppose
And a light that shows
And it dangles above my head

So don't let on
Don't let go
We should know
It's just parts of who you are
Don't let on
Don't let go
It's just parts of who you are
Just parts of who you are

It comes out now and then
And it comes out now and then
And it comes out now and then
And it comes out now and then
