Josh Turner, Angels Fall Sometimes

My chances weren't good she was way out of my reach How could she ever fall for some ol' boy like me But here she lies asleep tonight in these arms of mine And that goes to show angels fall sometimes

She's been here long enough to see that I'm no saint by now Every mornin' I wake surprised to find her still around The love that she give to me could be no truer sign Every now and then angels fall sometimes

She brings pieces of heaven every day into my life She's been my inspiration with her by my side I'm not afraid to dream high

[Instrumental]

The love that she gives to me could be no truer sign Every now and then angels fall sometimes Yeah, I thank the Lord angels fall sometimes