

Julia Fordham, Happy Ever After

don't ask me why, i'm running out of laughter there's tears in these eyes not happy ever after and i thought it was plain to see and i thought the whole world could be and i thought, we'd be happy ever after you could say that, i'm living in a pipe dream it's just looking back, things are never what they seem and i hope, i can safely say and i hope, most things go my way and i hope, they'll be happy ever after down in southern africa there's happy ever after that lasts maybe forever while they're living comfortably there's peace and unity can we can we be happy ever after

um by yay
est ce le south africa

so don't ask me why, i'm running out of laughter
there's tears in these eyes, not happy ever after
and i thought, it was plain to see and i thought, that maybe you and me and i thought, we'd be happy ever after

um by yay
est ce le south africa