

Julia Fordham, I'm Sorry But...

(Julia Fordham/Kipper)

Thanks for loving me
For coming on like family
For showing up when I was down
When all the walls came crashing down

Thanks for saying I'd
Be safe here til I die
For showing up with open arms
An open mind so open

I tell my heart to see reason but it won't
My mouth still says I love you
But I don't

I'm sorry but
I'm sorry
I'm sorry but
I'm sorry

How the years fly by
It's Christmas then fourth of July
It all becomes a travelogue a jumble of occasions

I tell my heart to see reason but it won't
My mouth still says I love you
But I don't

I'm sorry but
I'm sorry
I'm sorry but
I'm sorry

I had been clinging to that which changes
Caught in a never ending long long chain of delusion

I'm sorry but
I'm sorry
I'm sorry but
I'm sorry
