

Julia Fordham, Rainbow Heart

I'm packing away the blacks and the greys and the charcoal
The yellows and golds and all of those that sparkle

There's a rainbow in my heart
There's a rainbow in my heart
There's a rainbow in my heart
Tearing this body apart

The lime and the green the white and the cream and the navy
The purple and mauve and all of those that make me

There's a rainbow in my heart
There's a rainbow in my heart
There's a rainbow in my heart
Tearing this body apart

A rainbow tearing this body apart

The brown and the beige the light and the shade and the china blue
I showed my true colours now where are you?

There's a rainbow in my heart
There's a rainbow in my heart
There's a rainbow in my heart
There's a rainbow in my heart
There's a rainbow in my heart
Tearing this body a, tearing this body a, tearing this body apart
