

Kaddisfly, Manhattan Loves You

there are some who are walking on a tightrope of inevitability, wearing a persona sewn with threads of blind reason, and cultivating landscapes whose erected palisades are fashioned with words, delusive cogitation that merely conceals their intendment and assures their vainglory meanwhile their hearts are failing by association as they mold pliable logic and fabricate palatable coincidence in hopes of unveiling a unique divine axiom which only masks their purpose i can only offer one simple solution thats not biased in any way, in order to get what you need, you need to take care of those around you.

Dont hope to know anything until you know you know nothing, Dont hope to have anything until youve given it all away.