

Kane, Where do i go now

With my head against the window seal the letter which I did not sign should I wait for you for one la