

Karolina Baszak, Break The Habit

Staring at the candles now
I'm bored of the light so I blow them out
I feel better when it's dark

I see my world is falling down
I'm broken and my life is in pieces now
But I'm out of fight

Am I wasting my time on you?
Am I thinking that everything is good?
Am I lying to myself?
Come on girl, get up and runaway

My time on you
Am I thinking that everything is good
Am I lying to myself?
Come on girl, get up and runaway

Another day has come
Our last cross words has make me
Thinking of you in a different light

And I don't want to cry
I know I don't need you
I know I don't love you
So why it's so hard

I am looking so long for better reason
To leave this hopeless state what more I can do
What else I need to do
To be done with you
Why I don't even know some happy moments
Why I can't see your hand each time I fall and
What else I have to do to be done with you