

Kate Ceberano, All That I Want Is You

Well I was looking out my back window
I was watching the flowers blowin in the win Blowin through trees casting shadows on the pillow where my lover lay

And it occurred to me somewhere inside me that when a truth's goin down in your face becomes a mirror of my reflection then I know I am in the right place.

All that I want is you
All you will need is me
All that I want is you
All you will need is me

I watched your mouth as it lay on my pillow and I felt the heat on my face as you breathed it filled my day with a soulful complexion, yes it did, it is within you that I'd like to live

And I'd have babies that look like their daddy with big eyes blue as the sky up above and they'll be testament to our creation, yeah cause to me there ain't no greater love.
And I will watch them from my back window as I watch the rain as it falls where they play in the yard
