Kate Rusby, Awkward Annie

I gave to you a hen, You gave it back again, Without it's eggs, My Annie. I gave to you a hare, You really didn't care, Now it has no legs, My Annie. Chorus: Oh Annie let me in, I will fly, I will swim, I will die if you don't come near me, Oh no, don't you say so, You are my dear, My Annie I gave to you a dog, You threw for it a log, Now it won't come back, My Annie. I gave to you a pig, Though it wasn't very big, Now the meats all black, My Annie. Chorus. I gave to you a cow, You really don't know how, It flew away, My Annie. I gave to you a horse, I'm a silly fool of course, For you rode away, My Annie. Chorus. I gave to you my heart, You tore it all apart, When you rode away, My Annie
