

Kate Voegele, Say anything

been here before revolving door
were caught up and I dont know what for anymore
we had the best and nothing less
but the second we fell out of step you up and left this is so you this is what you do you'd rather make do than make a move what'll it take now how do I make this matter enough to you?
say youre a mess
say its a shame
why cant you at least pretend?
say I should leave
youre over me
say something, say anything
anything
say anything
please
what happened to the plans we made
and that contagious smile upon your face?
its all begun to fade
you used to be so careful with me
making sure that we would always be each others missing piece well we can still save these tattered pages
what do you say we start over baby?
this is our chance
and youre all I have dont let me slip through your hands
say youre a mess
say its a shame
why cant you at least pretend?
say I should leave
youre over me
say something, say anything
anything
say anything
please
you know I miss you, you know I wish you missed me too, baby tell me you do
say youre a mess
say its a shame
why cant you at least pretend?
say I should leave
youre over me
say something, say anything
anything
say anything
please