

Kate Voegele, Who You Are Without Me

Put me up on your pedestal
I've got nowhere to go but down
You expect the impossible
And it's too much to carry around
Well you tell me I'm beautiful
It feels empty and I don't know why
But it seems that you're searching me
For something you're not going to find
I'm not your anchor so don't hold on
I'm not the answer you got me wrong
I'm not your savior, save your energy
To find out who you are, yeah who you are without me
Oooh

Wide awake lying next to you
Being careful to get the words right
See it hurts me to tell you this
But it kills me to keep it inside
And I'm alone with the present tense
Making plans is overrated to me
And I don't speak in guarantees
Or at least not the kind that you need
I'm not your anchor so don't hold on
I'm not the answer you got me wrong
I'm not your savior, save your energy
To find out who you are, yeah who you are without me
Oooh well I still believe in happy endings
But this just isn't where I wanna spend mine
I believe in now I've said it
Ooooooh

I'm not your anchor so don't hold on
I'm not the answer you got me wrong
I'm not your savior, save your energy
To find out who you are,
I'm not a mirror look inside yourself
I'm not a hero you know too well
I'm not your savior save your energy
To find out who you are, who you are without me
Yeah, oooh
