Kelly Clarkson, Can I Have A Kiss?

Excuse me for this, I just want a kiss I just want to know what it feels like to touch Something so pure, something Im so sure of What it feels like to stand outside your door Im unworthy, I can see youre above me But I can be lovely given the chance

Dont move I want to remember you just like this Dont move Its only a breath or two between our lips

I know why you left I cant blame you myself Must be hard living with ghosts And such an empty shell

I tried to warn you Ive been a mess since youve known me I cant promise forever But Im working on it

If I cant hold you Can I give you a kiss? Can I have a kiss?

I see that youre torn Ive got some scars of my own Seems I want what I know is gonna leave me hungry

Dont move I need to remember you just like this

I know why you left I cant blame you myself Must be hard living with ghosts And such an empty shell

I tried to warn you Been a mess since youve known me I cant promise forever But Im working on it

If I cant hold you Can I give you a kiss? Can I?

All I have All I can give to you I will Just promise this If I cant have forever Can I have a kiss? Kiss? Kiss? No

I know why you left I cant blame you myself Must be hard living with ghosts And such an empty shell

I tried to warn you Been a mess since youve known me I cant promise forever But Im working on it

If I cant hold you

Can I give you a kiss? Can I give you a kiss? Can I, can I Can I have a kiss?