

Kelly Clarkson, me

buried myself into somebody else shut out some parts of me did it so casually

i guess i needed that to be able to step back i lived my life without me i never allowed me to too much i've had to live for put my life on hold for i'm always pleasin' someone honestly now i'm done

i don't need somebody to hold me don't need somebody to love me don't need somebody to pick these pieces up i put together my broken let go of the pain i've been holdin' don't need to need somebody
when i got me

loved you so much took an army to pull me up but now on the other side i remembered i could fly i told you i wanted you but you needed me to need you your insecurity was the death of you and me too many times you questioned what were my intentions i never gave you reasons you're the one with secrets

when i got me

i bet you feel the absence of my love every night there's no one else, you are the reason i said goodbye cause i don't need somebody to scold me don't need somebody that hurts me don't need somebody who feels weak standing next to me

let go of your hand i've been holdin'
when i got me, yeah
