

Kenny Loggins, Nobody But You

Some day is finally come
Open up your eyes to the truth
You know it's a magic thing
A man needs a woman like you
You bring all the morning light
Like a sun through the window
You clear up the cloudy skies
You're refreshing as a morning rain

And I don't want nobody
I don't want nobody but you
And if I need anybody
Darling, you're the one that I would choose

I stumble down Canyon Road
Just looking for the right way to love you
Every time I felt your doubt
And I hard the word from above
Hold on, she's coming soon
Woman, who would change your whole life
And now that I have a choice
Well I'm choosing you to be my wife

Well I don't want nobody, nobody but you
And if I need anybody
Darling, you're the one that I would do

Nobody, I don't want nobody but you
And if I need anybody
Darling, you're the one that I would choose