

Kenny Rogers, Every time two fools collide

You want things your way And I want these mine And now we don't know Just where you draw the