Keri Noble, A Dream About You

I had a dream about you last night

I dreamed that you were dead

When I woke up I wanted to call

And get it out of my head

But we don't talk anymore

I made sure of that

But I'd give anything to hear your voice

I would do better if I could go back

I'm sorry for your tears

I'm sorry I never told you in all of these years

I didn't leave you like I should

I hope you found someone to love you like I tried to

But never could

I always knew that it wasn't right

To get involved with you

But I never thought that you would fall so fast

Got me to thinkin', what the hell am I gonna do??

But now you seem like you're fine

Like you've moved on with your life

But I'd give anything to talk to you

And tell you I know I didn't treat you right

You live and you learn

You build and sometimes you just watch it all burn

I had a dream about you last night

I dreamed that you were dead
