v.1

I remember like yesterday, the very day I met you you were lookin fly, I was actin shy, so when you walked on by I ignored you but then you turned around and asked my name and in an instant my attitude changed, swept me off my feet, you were so sweet so full of comedy, you amused me gave you my number, next day you called askin if you could see me so I said alright (alright), you can stop on by it gave me butterflies, (knowin you were comin by) 30 minutes, knock, knock its you couldnt wait to see you, but I keep my cool from day one I fell in love with you, but now I ask myself who are you because...

you were never there, why should I be there theres no one there to hold me i'm young at heart and age and these are the days, when a girl like me needs lovin if hes not then someone else is gettin what he calls his he wasn't taking care of home, left me there alone so whats a girl to do when she's feelin in the mood we were together but we grew apart, thinkin with my mind and not my heart packed up all my things, left the engagement ring cause from the looks of things, I cant do this live this life that I call my life (call my life) if this is what its like being your wife, i'd rather be a friend than through the thick and thin, but now is

.hook.

.bridge.

what was I to do sit around and wait for you to call when I wanted to be in your arms missin you every minute you were gone you were gone to long doing who knows what, who knows where you act like you didnt care, when I told you, I wouldnt be here cause you changed

.hook.
you've changed, you've changed you got dough and changed,
