

Kim Sozzi, The End

When the morning meets the moon
And I'll slip back in my room
See I saw myself for someone else
Who gives me less than a damn

And I don't understand
I do all I can
Giving
But this is the end
Here we go again
Let me go you win
I give in
This is the end

When evening falls so hard
I surrender to your charm
So we been so close
And come so far
And I still don't know
Who you are

Cause I don't understand
I do all I can
Giving
But this is the end
Here we go again
Let me go you win
I give in
This is the end

Don't bother me, call on me, wannabe
Don't lead me on
Don't bother me, try to take all of me
I'm moving on

I saw myself for someone else
Now nothing's left, but the end

And I don't understand
I do all I can
Giving
Here we go again
Let me go you win
I give in
This is the end
