

Kim Wilde, Storm In Our Hearts

Written by Kim Wilde & Tony Swain

There was a lot to make up
For the time we'd had Cos we'd been lonely far too long
Had enough of feeling sad
And no, it didn't take long
To right all the wrong
And hurt inside
And now I can't believe what's happening
Right before my eyes
Just look at the rain falling
Look at the thunder
Look at the storm in your hearts
Look at the waves crashing
Pulling us under
Helplessly lost in the dark
We could have lost so easily
And let it go
We had no reason to believe
That love was just about to grow
And we got given a chance
I'm so proud we didn't throw it away
Cos broken hearts lie on the pavement
You see them every day
Just look at the rain falling
Look at the thunder
look at the thunder
Look at the storm in your hearts
Look at the waves crashing
Pulling us under
Helplessly lost in the dark
In the dark
Just look at the rain falling
Look at the thunder
Look at the storm in your hearts
Look at the waves crashing
Pulling us under
Helplessly lost in the dark
Look at the rain
Look at the thunder
look at the storm
In our hearts
In our hearts