

Kimberley Locke, Wrong

If you assume I'm weak,
Assume I'm frail,
But, your presumptions won't prevail.
I'm made of more,
Than what you see.

You tell me to twist,
Tell me to bend.
But I won't break just to fit in.
Just shut your mouth,
And listen up.

□□

I was so naive,
To let you have control of me.
But now that I believe in me,
I know....

You're wrong,
And I'm strong.
Unafraid I'm moving on.
Cause I'm free,
To be me.
Nobody tells me who to be.

You're wrong,
And I'm strong.
Unafraid I'm moving on.
Cause I'm free,
To be me.
Nobody tells me who to be.
Yeah.

I'm on the outside,
Looking in,
No longer do I pretend,
To be something,
That I'm not.

I don't run,
And I don't hide,
Behind a comforting disguise.
What you see,
Is what you get.□

I was so naive,
To let you have control of me.
But now that I believe in me,
I know....

You're wrong,
And I'm strong.
Unafraid I'm moving on.
Cause I'm free,
To be me.
Nobody tells me who to be.

Cause you're wrong,
And I'm strong.
Unafraid I'm moving on.
Cause I'm free,
To be me.
Nobody tells me who to be.
Yeah.

I wouldn't change a thing.
Cause life is how you grow.
You live, you learn.
And then you know.

That you're wrong,
And I'm strong.
Unafraid I'm moving on.
Cause I'm free,
To be me.
Nobody tells me who to be.

Cause you're wrong,
And I'm strong.
Unafraid I'm moving on.
Cause I'm free,
To be me.
Nobody tells me who to be.

Cause you're wrong,
And I'm strong. □
Unafraid I'm moving on.
Cause I'm free,
To be me.
Nobody tells me who to be.
Yeah.
