King Adora, Asleep

Asleep on an empty sheet A secret I couldn't keep Just me and a friend wondering, bonding Love, you always were my love, you always were

So throw your arms around me 'til it hurts Give me something I can touch And if I'm lost you've found me, but it hurts Give me something I can love

Asleep is away from harm As weak as a broken heart Just me in a web, drowning, drowning Love, you always were my love, you always were

So throw your arms around me 'til it hurts Give me something I can touch And if I'm lost you've found me, but it hurts Give me something I can love

Asleep is away from harm As weak as a broken heart Just me in a web, dying, dying Love, it always hurts
