

King's X, Finished

you caught my eye, couldn't take them off of you and i knew that you felt the same way too finished before it started one look then we parted

i couldn't speak, i felt one with you i was afraid, what else could i do love is patient and kind bears and believes all things some say its blind but i can't see a thing

finished before it started
one look then we parted