Kings Of Convenience, The Build-Up

The build-up lasted for days Lasted for weeks Lasted too long

Our hero withdrew When there was two He could not choose one So there was none

Worn into the vaguely announced Worn into the vaguely announced

The spinning top made a sound like a train across the valley Fading, oh so quiet, but constant 'til it passed Over the ridge into the distances, written on your ticket To remind you where to stop And when to get off

The spinning top made a sound like a train across the valley Fading, oh so quiet, but constant 'til it passed Over the ridge into the distances, written on your ticket To remind you where to stop And when to get off

The spinning top made a sound like a train across the valley Fading, oh so quiet, but constant 'til it passed Over the ridge into the distances, written on your ticket To remind you where to stop And when to get off When to get off When to get off When to get off When to get off