

Kitty Wells, Loving You Then Losing You

Loving you then losing you is more than I can stand

I knew we'd have some problem cause love's a crazy game

And loving you then losing you is driving me insane

Don't say that I'll forget you should you leave me behind

Cause loving you then losing you will make me lose my mind

I've spent so many nights alone more than I thought I could

But each time you'd come back to me just like a good man should

So don't tell me it's over our love is no mistake

Cause loving you then losing you is more than I can take

[steel]

I've spent so many nights alone...

Loving you then losing you is more than I can take
