Kitty Wells, Old Records

Old records bring back mem'ries pictures bring back tears Do you ever think of me after all these years

I found a stack of old records that we used to listen to And there beside the records were pictures of me and you So I dusted off the records and played them one more time I listened and looked at the pictures and almost lost my mind Cause old records bring back...

Like the songs on the records we were a big hit of yesterday And when you held me in the pictures I didn't know I didn't know you'd fade away But old records bring back...
