

Kosher, Hypocrite Catastrophe

You're a different person from face to face.
That's great acting, but where's your stage?
Always ranting and raving without a clue.
All I ask for is some occasional truth.
(I know it won't kill you.)
If you could see what I see hypocrite catastrophe.
If you could see what I see, try learning some fucking civility.
Maybe you should try representing what you speak.
You'll find your own existence is what's so very depressing.
No ones aiming to please? Give me a break!
You're breeding your own demise while becoming what you hate.
If you could see what I see, hypocrite catastrophe.
If you could see what I see, try learning some fucking civility.