Only half? It's like splitting an apple
Being beside you too much, I can't find the answer

I wanted to be "special"
It was love hidden beyond the pajamas

In this eternal night wrapped in stardust
The warmth that ties our souls together can be felt
Unable to discover greater happiness,
With eyes rather than words, let's be the first star in the sky

Wanting to reach you I softly touched your pinky
Seemingly unable to fall asleep alone today

With feelings about to overflow in my heart
I was pretending not to realize them turning into tears

Lifted up without hesitation into a bed of stardust
I can finally say it, I'm happy just having met you
Towards a weightless world where I can offer everything,
With you alone I can become the first star in the sky

Stardust, like the love being born towards you,
Stretches to the end of space, even beyond that
The horoscope that begins; if there is fate,
Now with the bond we've exchanged, let's be the first star in the sky
