

Kottonmouth Kings, Soul Surfin'

Soul surfin searching for the truth getting buried deep inside and come out wantin more

Soul Surfin in the greenroom
When the time is right, youre plant will bloom
Soul Surf, Drop in and take a ride
Live day to day just to get by

Soul surfin carvin to the bone sittin in the pocket flowin all alone
Soul surf
Soul surfin searchin for a home
Lookin for a girl I can call my own

Soul surfin searching for the truth getting buried deep inside and come out wantin more

You cant lose what you dont got, just look and you will see
So many lost souls wandering through these streets aimlessly
Lifes like a puzzle to me, Im only missing one piece
Soul Surfin gonna search for my soul eternally
I know eventually I will find my soul mate
The One I want to go home to every night of every day
But until then Im gonna have fun and play
Keep a smile on my face, I ride this life like a wave

Soul surfin in pretty blue waters
Waitin for the day that I could just call her
Soul surf
Soul surfin Im all by myself
I dont need a girl that cares about wealth

Im soul surfin and searchin for a lady and these fools probably think that Im crazy
I aint shady baby Ill tell it like it is
When you look in my face youll no Im serious
Now its delirious all these funny pretty girls trying to get up in my face and trying to rule my world
What do you want form me
Im the D-Loc
The capital D
What you gets what you see.

Soul surfin searching for the truth getting buried deep inside and come out wantin more-
Soul Surfin in the green room when your time is right your plant will bloom Soul Surfin touchin blue skys up high where spirits fly pretty, pretty, pretty were to young to die
