

Krezip, Really Something

So you say we're fine
Well nothing feels alright
You think there's no way
I'll make you go away

What dream are you in?
What are you thinking?

You're really something that turned into nothing
You're memory is fading
You should have known better than keep me waiting
Go stand in line cause you're falling behind
My patience is breaking
You should have known better than keep me waiting

I've made up my mind
No wasting no more time
I'm taking back everything that's mine
I tried to give in (tried to give in)
What was I thinking?

Cause you're really something that turned into nothing
You're memory is fading
You should have known better than keep me waiting
Go stand in line cause you're falling behind
My patience is breaking
You should have known better than keep me waiting
(should've known better than keep me waiting - keep me waiting)

I don't want to go on Cause I never get enough attention
You're weak I'm grown
But I'm sure
That I'm moving in the right direction

Cause you're really something that turned into nothing
You're memory is fading
You should have known better than keep me waiting
Go stand in line cause you're falling behind
My patience is breaking
You should have known better than keep me waiting

Cause you're really something that turned into nothing
You're memory is fading
You should have known better than keep me waiting
Go stand in line cause you're falling behind
My patience is breaking
You should have known better than keep me waiting