

Krezip, Run Around The World

She cried a lot because she felt alone
But this is really all you have to give
You never see and never know
You rather get it the easy way...
She was scared, scared that you would go
She could cry, because you didn't know
She could dance all night long to make you jealous
If you would have been a real man
Would have have it feel alright
You had the chance to make discover
But you didn't let me run... tonight
Don't understand her, goes way too far for you
The things you told her were really true, yeah
But will you ever get somewhere
You rather get it the easy way...
She was scared, scared that you would go
She could cry, because you didn't know
She could dance all night long to make you jealous
If you would have been a real man
Would have have it feel alright
You had the chance to make discover
But you didn't let me run... tonight
If you had begged me on your knees
Gave me everything you had
If you had run around the world for me...
But it's just too late now
I am against myself
You didn't run around the world for me, yeah
If you would have been a real man
Would have have it feel alright
You had the chance to make discover
But you didn't let me run... tonight
Tonight, tonight, tonight... ah
