Kris Delmhorst, Weathervane

Well the tree lie down beneath you The grasses bow & Down; sway The sands rise to meet you The ocean it makes way

And you move through your directions And i turn my face away The grasses rise to meet you The ocean it makes way

Well i too can more the prairies I too can move the sea I'm gonna take that motion Take it right inside me

I'm gonna rattle at your windows Rattle at your doors Rattle at your shutters Show you what they're for

No more weathervane, i'm gonna be the wind. No more spin around, spin around, spin around but always face away No more weathervane. I'm gonna be the wind.