

Kristine W., Letting Go

Letting go's not easy
It takes some time
If I could change your heart the way you change your mind
How am I supposed to live without your love
Tell me now
Letting go's not easy
It breaks your heart
And if I set you free will you come back to me
How am I supposed to live without your love
Tell me how

Tell me how
Tell me how
Tell me how

Release me from this prison that I built inside my mind
Been holding on to you
But you were never really mine
And when the night falls down around
I'm chasing shadows of doubt

Letting go of love, no there is just no easy way out

Letting go's not easy
It takes some time
If I could change your heart the way you change your mind
How am I supposed to live without your love
Tell me now
Letting go's not easy
It breaks your heart
And if I set you free will you come back to me
How am I supposed to live without your love
Tell me how

Tell me how
Tell me how

Can't mend these open wounds your words no longer heal
You've left me empty hearted and now I no longer feel
I believed that we were real with a heart so full of faith
I'm letting go of love and now my fears I'll have to face