

Kristy Starling, Must Have Been Angels

Sometimes I think about the hearts of angels
Perfect love that reaches out to every stranger
With the truth on their side
Nothing to hide
They come and go with the tide

(chorus)
It must have been angels who carried me
When I was too weak to lift my feet
When I was too blind to clearly see Heavenly lights shined down for me
It must have been angels

Watching over me
Time is cruel
To youth the grace of love is beauty
Life is hard, due unto others
That's our duty
When my soul was in pain
More loss than gain
An angel spoke my name

(chorus)
Everyday I feel the touch of an angel
Feel the wind and the rain in my hair
The warmth of the sun will soon appear
