

Kristy Thirsk, Hollywood

(Thirsk)

let's pretend that we belong together let's pretend that our love will last forever let's pretend there's no force in the world it can't break down let's pretend that that door slamming is not the sound let's move to hollywood where we'll write the ending as we should there are rules in hollywood you must end up happy, it's understood it's where love prevails let's pretend that our children are perfect and happy let's pretend that our whole life is agape and let's pretend that it doesn't hurt to move and let's pretend that even pain won't mean you lose
let's move to hollywood
where we'll write the ending as we should
there are rules in hollywood
you must end up happy, it's understood so let the truth be hollywood where we'll end up happy
it's where love prevails
and nothing fails
and nothing fails
let's pretend that we don't pay for happy endings