

Kutless, Beyond The Surface

I've been hiding, hiding for so long right behind my digital mask
I've been trying to be someone I'm not
All these perfectly fake people push us to insane ideals
They're nothing more than counterfeit images
That push me away, to bleed out the pain
Don't you dare to make another move
Put the knife away that's not what anybody needs
There's a better way than everything now that you see
Stop comparing who you are to who you want to be
Let's step out beyond the surface
Don't give in to everything the world around tells you to be Open up your mind release yourself
Stop the lying stop comparing who you are to what you see
Never letting fear hold back the change
And push you away, to bleed out the pain
Don't you dare to make another move