Kylie Minogue, Stars

You're asking yourself, what's real? What to do with these feelings That you have inside, surreal Yeah yeah yeah yeah

When you look deep into the pockets of the universe...

"'You never know what you'll find Because stars don't shine in singular places Open up your mind's eye and Light up familiar faces Because in time you'll find life and all of it's races So open up your mind's eye And go tonight Begin to feel the light"

How do we know the truth? Gotta look to the root Inside the meaning of life for you Yeah yeah yeah yeah

When you look deep into the pockets of the universe...

"'You never know what you'll find Because stars don't shine in singular places Open up your mind's eye and Light up familiar faces Because in time you'll find life and all of it's races So open up your mind's eye And go tonight Begin to feel the light"

Stars don't shine Stars don't shine Stars don't shine Stars don't shine Stars don't shine

"'You never know what you'll find Because stars don't shine in singular places Open up your mind's eye and Light up familiar faces Because in time you'll find life and all of it's races So open up your mind's eye And go tonight Begin to feel the light"