Laika, Longwave

Where is my baby
Where did he go
I'm gonna follow him
Through the rain and snow

He's gone and left me Left me all alone I ain't got nobody And nowhere to call home

Where is my baby How could he leave Now I get so lonesome I can't hardly breathe

All night I'm cryin'
He doesn't treat me right
Where's my sugar got to
Because I can't sleep at night

Who's that at the door who's It isn't love isn't love isn't love Who's that at the door who's It isn't love isn't love isn't love Who's that at the door who's It isn't love isn't love isn't love Who's that at the door who's It isn't love isn't love isn't love isn't love

Where is my baby Which way has he ran I need my sugar I need my man

Walkin' in the desert Hot sand in my shoes Where is my honey To take away my blues

Where is my baby Where did he go I'm gonna follow him Through the rain and snow

He's gone and left me Left me all alone Now I ain't got nobody And nowhere to call home

Who's that at the door who's It isn't love isn't love isn't love Who's that at the door who's It isn't love isn't love isn't love Who's that at the door who's It isn't love isn't love isn't love Who's that at the door who's It isn't love isn't love isn't love
