Lake Of Tears, Sorcerers

Lost in the twilight, we sail for the moon And stars light our way, upon the horizon

Crazed by the stars, so eager to stray If we should come there tonight, say would they stay

Now we're bound for ground patrol When we were meant to find them all Sorcerers

We sail for the sun, and the twinkling ones How careless they play, must be the season

Dazed by the starlight, to find us a reason we go And if we should come there tonight, say would we know

Now we're bound for ground patrol When we were meant to know them all Sorcerers

Now we're bound for ground patrol When we were meant to lose control Sorcerers