

Lana Lane, Symphony Of Angels

The afterglow of sorrow
You can leave behind the pain
If you hold on to tomorrow
It'll get you through the rain

All of the bridges have been burning, burning down
Everything comes around

When the music dies the song will find you
After all the rain there's a rainbow
In your darkest night hear them singing
Arias and fables
Symphony of angels

If you've sold all your tomorrows
And there's no one left to blame
If you've got no time to borrow
Take shelter from the rain

All of the bridges have been burning, burning down
Everything comes around

When the music dies the song will find you
After all the rain there's a rainbow
In your darkest night hear them singing
Arias and fables
Symphony of angels

All of the bridges have been burning, burning down
Everything comes around
Ooh, everything comes around

When the music dies the song will find you
After all the rain there's a rainbow
In your darkest night hear them singing
Arias, arias and fables
When the music dies the song will find you
After all the rain there's a rainbow
In your darkest night hear them singing
Arias and fables
Symphony of angels