

Lannen Fall, Lover's Last Rites

Leave the light on for me but go to sleep
You can safely hide underneath the sheets
And I'll deny myself, 'cause I don't wanna fight
I guess we'll just pretend, like every other night
Staying up all night, I watch you breathe
Recounting all the times you couldn't count on me
And I could lie to myself and put these dreams to sleep
But would it be enough, would it give you what you need?
Lay back, rest your head
(Leave my begging on this bed)
Is there nothing left?
Leave the light on for me but go to sleep
Is this all that we're meant to be?
And I'll deny myself but maybe it's just me
I guess I'm just too scared to be the first you need
Lay back, rest your head
(Leave my begging on this bed)
Is there nothing left?
(Our love is left for dead)
Never appreciated, well they could appreciate it
Never appreciated, well they could appreciate it
(Just like all the best parts)
Never appreciated, well they could appreciate it
(Just like all the best parts)
Never appreciated, well they could appreciate it
(Just like all the best parts)
Never appreciated, well they could appreciate it
(Just like all the best parts)
Never appreciated, well they could appreciate it
(Just like all the best parts)
Never appreciated, well they could appreciate it
(Just like all the best parts)
Never appreciated, well they could appreciate it
(Just like all the best parts)
