

Lapis Lazuli, Lost

Night is falling, darkness coming will not see another day, the vanishing light

Running blindly, never stopping cannot see where this road takes me
I'm forever lost

Facing ahead, never look back letting every thought slip away
everything is lost

Oh, where will I head from here
I cannot see how this will make things better

What can I do to change things I fail to see how I can find my way out

Running blindly, never stopping
cannot see where this road takes me
I'm forever lost

Oh, where do we go from here
I cannot see how we can turn this around

What will we do to change this I fail to see how we can run from this

Facing ahead, never look back
letting every thought slip away
everything is lost