

Lapis Lazuli, My Last Story

Shadows rising before us
Darkness covering mankind
Shattered, nothing is left but
Fragments of our former selves

All things comes to an ending
Nothing will last forever
Our fate was never written
Time to pay the ferryman

Our hope fading away now
Our life burning to ashes
All gone, nothing remaining
Just close your eyes and wait

This will be my last story

Forever lost, nothing remains
The greatest of tragedys written

We tell our goodbyes, what might be our last
And never ask ourselves why

Where will this go, how will it end
Come witness the ending begin

The future was ours, the pages where clean our story was ours to write
The fault is our own, theres no-one to blame
Together we'll take the fall

Shadows rising before us
Darkness covering mankind
Shattered, nothing is left but
Fragments of our former selves

All things comes to an ending
Nothing will last forever
Our fate was never written
Time to pay the ferryman

Our hope fading away now
Our life burning to ashes
All gone, nothing remaining
Just close your eyes and wait

And here we are, beaten, broken, nothing left
We are but a shell of what we where

Anger, hatred, loathing, nothing else
We are but a shade of what could've been

We are, beaten, broken, nothing left
We are but a shell of what we where

Anger, hatred, loathing, nothing else
We are but a shade of what could've been