

Lapis Lazuli, The Silence

All of the memories
They have begun to fade, blurred by the anguish

All of the memories
They have begun to die, drowned by the sadness

I can't see, I can't feel
I don't know where to start, can't see the ending

And when the silence finally comes
The questions still remains, cant seem to solve them alone
There is no answers left untold
A touch of nothingness fills the heart
Is there no end?

Why have everything come to this?
What on earth have I done wrong?
Is it me or something else?
Have I myself to blame?

Is it too late
Or can I find what I'm looking for
Looking into the eyes
See the spark that I once had

And when the silence finally comes
The questions still remains, cant seem to solve them alone
There is no answers left untold
A touch of nothingness fills the heart
Is there no end?