

Larger Than Life, If Tomorrow Never Came

I thought I'd never change I guess it wasn't true the roles that we both played sometimes I still live inside you if tomorrow never comes if this whole world falls apart then I just want to know what's inside my heart

look at me now something inside has shifted that's why I beseech you realize I have changed realize that you got what you wanted and so it seems that I have left you all behind and I hope that you'll move on another lesson learned in time because it's true in time you'll grow no one stays the same and if you live the life you choose you have only yourself to blame accept the fact that we will move on and never come back the way we were you got what you wanted