

Last Winter, December

I can't count the ways
Times left in the shade
It brings me to today
But I remember
Last December
Looking outward
From down here
Night approaching
As I'm learning
Colors never change
The sky fell between my
Young and careless eyes
Braiding myself in
The red December sky
I remember
Last December
Memories never change