Lea Michele, Anything's Possible

It;s time to leave i all behind Ity;s time to pick up the pieces od my scattered mind And after all my petals fall I can finally find beauty beneath once and for all

I've spent way too long judging myself Running from truth into someone else's arms But I'm done The battle's begun /2x

There's fire in me Deep down in my veins These clouds in my head, they're not gonna rain There's fight in my heart There's hope in my eyes /2x

I push through the limits
I climb every wall
I keep on believing anything is possible
I run until I'm breathless
I stand 10 feet tall
I keep on believing anything is possible

It's time to crack the open door It's time to leave every teardrop on the bathroom floor If I'm scared, I'll go in scared Yes, I've got nothing to lose It's only up from here

I've spent way too long judging myself Running from truth into someone else's arms But I'm done The battle's begun /2x

There's fire in me Deep down in my veins These clouds in my head, they're not gonna rain There's fight in my heart There's hope in my eyes /2x

The night is all around me Around me But in the dark The stars they've found me Found me I'm here

I'm gonna push through the limits
I climb every wall
I keep on believing anything is possible
I run until I'm breathless
I stand 10 feet tall
I keep on believing anything is possible
